ANOTHER ALASKAN OPPORTUNITY

FROM THE JBER AERO CLUB FLIGHT TRAINING CENTER

For any JBER pilot seeking their mountain flying or high-performance endorsements, please consider the Aero Club's Cessna 182. The Cessna 182 Skylane, widely considered the "station wagon of the sky", is a highly capable, rugged platform for Alaskan mountain flying.

The training will introduce principles such as:

- When flying through a valley or canyon, hug the right-hand side.
- Always cross ridges at a 45-degree angle.
- Aim to cross passes and ridges with a minimum of 2,000 feet of altitude clearance.

View Our Aircraft Rentals HERE

For more information, please contact Ms. Jennifer King at (907) 551-7186 or jennifer.king.30@us.af.mil. Just ask for "Sky King". For pricing information, and a complete list of the club's programs, please review the club's website at <https://jberlife.com/aeroclub/>.
